That is exactly how I feel and how you should feel in resard to the Christian life and service. Our Lorde Follow Me, demands the very finest that is in every red-blooded by young person—man or woman, It is the call for heroes and it takes heroism and courage to become a Christian. The great renunciation, the supermed devotion, the specific obedience are to me the marks of every true thristian. Tonight I call upon you here to hear the Master as He is say.

Noving a large sum or money took place when the Bassett block (known as the Lincoln estate), changed owners. This property which is located at the junction of Main and Railroad streets, was sold by Clifford Alpaugh, Mrs. Frank E. Webb, and Mrs. Lifa Brown, to Jay E. Grant and James H. Huriey, who conduct a hardware business in that block. The new owners are to take possession April I. The building which was erected about forty years ago, is one of the biggest in this city. It is a brick attructure of three stories for a greater or part of its depth and two stories in the rear. The building has a frontage of about 75 feet on Main street and extends back to the rail-road yard a distance of about 130 feet.

The Strand has arranged for a big rogramme with a variety for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Trevelle and Seals are seen in a full stage diving act with all special scenery. The tank in this act when full of water weighs seven tons. Mr. Trevella is assisted by a woman and a seal in this act. All movements are seen through the plate glass in the front of this act. All movements are seen through the plate glass in the front of the tank; some fancy swimming and the eating of a banana is shown in this tank. Francis and Elden are seen in a comedy singing and talking act that made a big hit with the Strand's audience. Mathiew, the comedy juggler, is seen in a series of clever tricks of juggling.

James J. Corbett, the veteran of the ring, is seen in The Prince of Avenue A. If you were a jovial young plumber fixing a faucet in one of the palatial homes on Fifth avenue, and a pretty maid should smile at you, would you, or would you not forget the faucet for a few minutes, and give your attention to the girl? The story centers around a vivacious young boarding school miss, who has always made more or less of a pal out of her father and is shocked to discover the photograph of a comely woman, not her mother, in his suitcase. The picture bears an endearing inscription and convinces Mary the heroine, that her father is carrying on an affair with the siren. She determines to rescue him. The developments when Mary hires a professional escort, makes the acquaintance of "the other woman" and finally brings about a dramatic situation that makes her father see the error of his ways from the plot of what is declared to be a most abof what is declared to be a most absorbing picture. The Web of Chance, a clever comedy drama featuring Peggy Hyland, the popular William Fox star, is the other big feature on this bill.
